Lovely hair!

Modern hair dressers add beauty to your hair by graceful lines and contours. It is just as important to keep your hair soft, lustrous, abundant, rich in color.

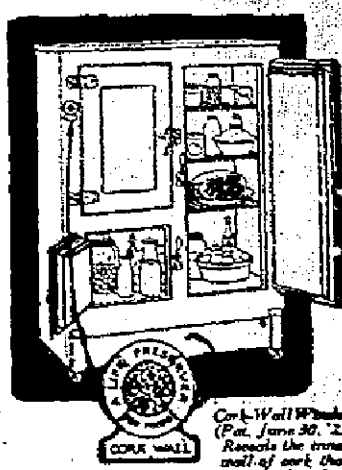

Millions of girls and women are doing this at home with the easy help of Danderine. It is so simple to use. All you do is put a little on your brush each time you arrange your hair.

Instantly Danderine brings out the natural color of your hair, makes it more sparkling and lustrous than brilliantine; makes it easy to manage; holds it in place.

The consistent use of Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; stops itching hair; tends to make the hair grow long, silky and abundant. Five million bottles used a year!

Unfair Pain

It is not fair that some women should suffer so much. It isn't necessary! The menstrual process is natural, but the painful part is not. Midol will prove this to every woman who will try it. These wonderful tablets are non-narcotic, but they banish every bit of pain. They act directly on the organs affected by menstruation and they take effect in five to seven minutes. Better yet, the woman who anticipates her time and takes a tablet of Midol beforehand will experience no pain at all.

Realize what Midol means. It is the product of specialists for this special purpose and it really does end all suffering and even the discomforts women once had to endure at such times. Always obtainable at any drug store in the convenient aluminum packet case for only fifty cents—Adv.

POLICE SERGEANT
IS "INDIAN GIVER"

This Is Charge of Mrs. McCoy,
Who Has Gifts Officer
Wants Back

If allegations of Mrs. Corinne Mc-Coy, manager of the business office,
are true, Officer DeWeese, night police sergeant, is an "Indian giver."

She charges, in an answer filed in municipal court yesterday that the silver mounted lamp which DeWeese is attempting to repossess through replevin action, were given to her as a Christmas present shortly before Santa was due to make his annual visit.

She therefore charges that he has no right to them, claiming that they are her property. She said they were given to her, and that they were not "conditional gifts" as charged in De-Weese's replevin suit.

DeWeese set forth in the action that the gifts were conditional, and that when he returned to her a valuable ring which she had given him, she should have returned the lamp,
which he valued at $55.

Unusual Things
at Sensible Prices

The whole thought and effort of our organization—the effort of our central buying organization—is directed toward finding unusual things at sensible prices.

New Living Room Groups

The new living room creations are more graceful in line and proportion—more luxuriously comfortable—more beautifully upholstered. Pictured here is a Lawson davenport and man's chair covered in Tapestry. A Duncan Phyfe Mahogany Drum Table, a Table Lamp and a Walnut frame Mirror.

PERSONAL SERVICE

SCHAFFNER'S has for 64 years been owned and operated exclusively by Schaffner's.

Schaffner's today is entirely locally owned and operated.

... But, we now offer to our customers the added advantages of a $20,000,000.00 co-operative association of forty-three of the oldest and largest furniture stores in America.

The purchasing power of this organization and the co-operation of our central staff . . . decorators and stylists . . . enable us today to offer better values and better service at lower cost than at any time in our years of progress.

Liberal Credit Policies

Our credit policy is liberal . . . it is always fair and honest. We take a keen personal interest in serving our customers . . . in furnishing their homes on thrifty, economical budgets.

We invite you to see for yourself that Schaffner's is a thrifty and pleasant place to furnish your home.

DRAPERIES

SPECIAL VALUES . . .
In New Spring Draperies

This new department is fast becoming popular. Shoppers from Marion and surrounding towns are coming here each day to see the beautiful assembly of newest fabrics now on display. It is more than a Drapery Department because a complete decorative service for homes, clubs, churches and public buildings is offered through Mr. Lucien J. Ventre, a skilled decorator, who will gladly give estimates, suggestions, and complete interior plans. This service is without charge.

McKECHNIE DOES NOT THINK BOSTON CLUB WILL FINISH LAST

Expects To Make Younger, Faster Team Out of Tail-Enders

One behind the home
run, and there is "plethora of talent in Marionville." As McKechnie will be McKechnie, the coaching pitchers. He is a coach, but he will be a coach.

To do a lot of expecting, said McKechnie. "We will have some good players and I should be able to show some real pitching. The staff is comprised of the following: Eddie

Brandt, Bruce Cunningham, Ben Cannell, Johnny Cooney, Harry Schubert and Bob Smith. That's a pretty formidable and experienced collection."

McKechnie is studying a number of prospective youngsters, including Roy Flaherty, Alonzo Smith, Bob Brown
and John Clough. Flaherty is here from Spokane, Wash., on the recommendation of Lefty Brandt.

Flaherty is a right hander. So is Smith who was recalled from the Providence club of the Eastern league. Clough hails from Blue Hill, Me., and was signed on the recommendation of Freddy Parent, a former Red Sox infielder. The fourth, Brown, is a six footer whose home
is in Hull, Mass.

"Al Spolner is my best bet as a catcher," said McKechnie. "I need another good backstop. Cronin, recalled from Baltimore last year, looks pretty good."

"First base will be taken care of by either Johnny Neun, drafted from Baltimore, or George Sisler. Sisler's legs are in good shape for another hard campaign."

"I have Freddie Mazurek for second. He is a great fielder but the club needs batting punch. Bob James, recalled from Baltimore and Russell

Rollings, drafted from Hollywood, are candidates for the job.

"Marionville and Jack Kahn will fight it out for the shortstop position.
Kahn, formerly with the Cardinals,
made an extra base record with Albany and Manchester. He looks good.
"I am forced to try Outfielder Walter Berger when we purchased from Los Angeles at third base. He is only 24, six feet two, is fast and can field as well as hit."

"The outfield will be taken care of by Rickbourn, Clark and Welch.
I am going to see what Moore, whom we bought from Dallas, and Bratcher, drafted from Denver, can do in the outfield. They may be able to make the grade."

McKechnie likes the idea of taking hold of the tail-end Braves. He has set forth no firm plan of conduct. The players can indicate in time if they want to, but only after daily practice and on off days. The new Braves manager approves of wages accompanying the players to camp, saying it keeps his men out of trouble. He declared that four or five clubs are sure to be in the running for the National league pennant
—namely, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St.
Louis, New York and Brooklyn. He believes if Glenn Wright's arm is in shape Brooklyn will be one of the toughest clubs to beat in the league.

Rifle Shoot To Be Held on Fort Hayes Range

The fifth annual Ohio Rifle league gallery championship matches will be held at Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio,
March 21-22-23.

To all appearances this year's matches will be the greatest indoor shoot ever held in Ohio. There are green matches on the program and each match carries its share of cash and merchandise prizes. Aside from the cash and merchandise there will be nine silver trophy cups and 55
gold, silver and bronze medals awarded. Further information and programs for the shoot may be had from L. A. VanVelsell, 1523 Logan ave., N. W., Canton, Ohio.

OFFICERS NAMED FOR ASHLEY JUNIOR FAIR

Donald Osborn To Direct Activities During Coming Season

Special To The Star

ASHLEY, March 7.—The Ashley Junior fair association held its annual meeting at the school building
Tuesday night.

The following members were elected to the Junior fair board for the year of 1930:

President, Donald Osborn; first vice president, Carl Anderson; second vice president, Merrett Lawson; third vice president, Bobby Jones; secretary, Faye Toly; assistant secretary, Lucile Martin; board members, Gwen
Dennis, Lucile Westbrook, Lawrence
Bishop, Charles Lee, Howard Cole, Kenneth Bent, Edwin Burck, Chas-
terine Springer, Martha Shaw, Joel Bitt, Mary Thomas and Bernice Hames.

The Junior fair was started in Ashley five years ago with about 15 members. At present the membership numbers over 300. Up until last year Ashley had the only Junior fair in the United States.

Each boy and girl under the age of 21 years who lives around Ashley has the right to display his or her products. And upon this display they become a member of the association.

This year the board consists of three members from the Brown school and three members from the Kanner school.

One feature the Junior fair is planning for this year is the showing of 27 baby food recipes, all owned by boys and girls of Radnor township.

You Can Depend Upon NEWTOWN to Save Your Baby Chicks!

Thousands upon thousands of poultry raisers know that it is true. In Newtown they have found chick-raising abilities that is almost unbelieveable. They have found Newtown a brooder they can depend upon when
other brooders fail.
They have found
Newtown a brooder
that means extra
dollars in profit.

We invite you to see this remarkable brooder. Come in today. The minute
you look at it you'll know it is a brooder that will care for your chicks under extreme conditions. It has a big stove—an extra big stove—a stove that holds an ample reserve of fuel. It has a big combustion chamber that insures perfect combustion. It has a double check draft that insures the holding of the fire with great efficiency.

All these features mean that Newtown will save your chicks on cold nights. It doesn't need constant attention. You don't have to refuel it frequently. You won't lose chicks because of sudden changes in temperature. You can always depend upon Newtown to raise your chicks and increase your profits.

Be sure to see this brooder before you buy. Come in and let us show it to you.

Buy a brooder that has proven its worth. Do not buy an untried brooder as you cannot afford to take a chance. It is expensive to do so. We carry a complete line of Newtown and Birkley Coal and oil burning brooders. Priced to meet all classes of competition.

BAD CHECK ARTIST ACTIVE IN MARION

New Racket Developed To Fleece Local Merchants
of Big Sums

A new check "racket" was exposed by police this week, following the sudden disappearance of a man giving his name as P. J. Riley, who left Marion merchants holding the bag for a total of $125.

The "bad check" business is rapidly becoming a serious problem. Police of Marion and at least three other cities are making every effort to locate and arrest Riley, who goes under a variety of names.

Riley is thought to have appeared in this city about two weeks ago. At the time he posed as an inspector of grocery stores for the government, according to information furnished by him. During his stay in the city, he made sizeable purchases of groceries, paying for them in cash.

The "racket" he operated was to victimize the grocer on a check after obtaining his confidence by paying for previous orders with cash.

This was precisely what the man did here, leaving C. E. Dufey, operator of a grocery and delicatessen at 182 West Center st., a worthless check. Riley left the city early this week, police believe.

The check was made out to "cash" and drawn on the Liberty Banking Co., Elmhurst, Mich.

Another worthless check was passed to Jim Dugan, Marion clothier, according to reports made to police.

Police officials of Bowling Green, Fremont and other northern Ohio cities have reported similar cases, and believe that one man is responsible for the "racket." The man has given various names in the different cities he has operated the ruse.

Squab, Properly Prepared, Serves as Delicious Feature of Choice Menu

A squab is a young pigeon, usually weighing from one to two pounds. It is a delicious and economical feature of a choice menu. The best way to prepare a squab is to broil it. The bird should be plucked and cleaned, then broiled over a hot fire for 10 to 15 minutes. It can be served with a variety of sauces, including a simple butter sauce or a more elaborate one with wine and herbs. Squabs are also excellent when roasted or baked. They are a versatile and delicious addition to any meal.

Closeup of Zoro Agba, the 136-year-old Turk, whose boast it is that in all his long life he has never taken a drink of intoxicating liquor. Turkey's longevity champion will sail for the United States in April at the invitation of the American Anti-Alcohol Society. The society intends to exhibit him throughout the United States.

156-YEAR-OLD "DRY"

Placed in a baking dish, place in it a layer of the sliced potatoes, a few pieces of dried salt pork, some chopped, hard-boiled egg, also the chopped giblets and the water in which they were cooked. Drizzle with flour, and season with salt and pepper. Cover the top with a pie crust, puncture with a few slits to let steam escape, and bake in a medium oven for 45 minutes to one hour.

Can You Tell Them Apart?

One is Bill—the other Jim—but can you tell any difference? "That's impossible!" you say. And it's just as difficult to detect the slightest difference in flavor between Jelke Good Luck Margarine and the most costly spread-for-bread. Thousands have tried and failed—then changed to Good Luck. It is so delightfully fresh and delicious—so nutritious and high in vitamins—so wonderful for cooking and baking—that over a million sensible women now use Good Luck exclusively. Made of extra-quality meat fats emulsified in whole milk. Order a package from your grocer today. Be sure to ask for Good Luck—no other margarine invites you to make this amazing flavor test.

No time today for stubborn soaps that lather stingingly. We strenuous moderns need this amazing magic soap which bubbles into instant lather in any water—hot or cold—hard or soft. Truly a marvelous accomplishment—a finer soap made by a secret process from costly, mild coconut oil. And this gentle oil lathers twice as quick as old soap oils—flashing into great handfuls of thick, rich lather the instant it touches water!

What a joy for your skin, too—how soothing the bland, gentle coconut oil which leaves skin velvety soft and smooth. Yet doctors say it actually destroys deadly germs. And hard-working men tell us this magic soap cleans up grime and grease double-quick! See how different this modern soap. Ask today for the big, white, over-size cake that costs only 10c.

CRIME CONVICTIONS HIGHER IN CHICAGO

No Mention Made in Report of Prosecution of Gangsters, Slayers

By International News Service
CHICAGO, March 7.—Although more criminals were sent to prison and a greater percentage of verdicts of guilty were secured by State's Attorney John A. Swanson, according to his annual report to the Citizens' Association of Chicago, no mention was made of the prosecution and apprehension of murderers and gangsters.

Chicago citizens are primarily interested in stopping the gang wars and murders which have been thrown into the notorious limelight, but in only one sentence of the yearly report was the word "bandit" used. Swanson's report, however, did point out that 2,774 persons were found guilty in 1928 and only 135 found not guilty of the cases presented to the courts as compared to 2,151 and 599 not guilty in 1927.

Swanson, in his report, said that his office disposed of 3,820 indictments of a total of 7,097 during the year, while during January 37 per cent of the cases tried in criminal court resulted in verdicts of guilty.

"This is from 10 to 17 per cent, higher than the average rating for any of the years going to my incumbency on which I have discovered records," Swanson said. "I confidently anticipate greater efficiency throughout the remaining months of 1929."

The prosecution of "blue sky" frauds and racketeering operators yielded $3,000,000 in restitution to victims and prevented the marketing of $20,000,000 worth of spurious securities, the report said.

A determined drive against professional bondsmen, who by securing bail for desperadoes and dangerous criminals often aid them in "jumping bail" and escaping trial, was made during the first year as state's attorney, Swanson said.

RICE'S LAWN SEED

272 bail bonds were forfeited; in the following year, 1924, a decrease of 25," Swanson stated as evidence of the success of the drive. "Defendants apprehended in 1928 numbered 2,297; in 1927, 249, an increase of 17. In the prior year 112 defendants were not apprehended, in the latter year there were only 85, a decrease of 27."

Plans adopted as a result of prosecution by the state's attorney's office during 1928 amounted to $18,155.85 compared to $83,573.71 the previous year, the report stated. The only mention of homicides in the report was to the effect that the state's attorney had developed a system by which assailants are immediately assigned to work with courts and grand juries to gather evidence in important cases before such evidence is destroyed.

Fancy Names Give Special Relish to Plain Dishes

"It's very good," whispered Mary across the luncheon table at the little French restaurant. "But isn't it a sort of hash?" She looked at the "rechauffe" she had ordered because it sounded interesting, and new, but because the dish had a familiar look. As a matter of fact, she would not have been deceived if she had remembered her French, because "rechauffe" means merely reheating, and the dish hadn't been glorified by a misleading title.

By Any Name
A number of very ordinary foods, however, are given a special relish by fancy names. These names, however, might be passed by with indifference if they were offered by their home names. But when in foreign names they seem alluring, especially if incomprehensible. Still, in order to avoid occasional disappointment, when selecting a dish from a menu card in an unknown tongue it's well to remember some of the gibberish which fancy foods are offered.

Hash, in our term or another may be found in such words as:

"Rechauffe," which is merely cooked meat, separated from its bones, then cut in cubes or chopped fine and heated.

"Charreux" is the combination of cooked chopped meat, heated and filled in the center of a mold of boiled rice. This looks as attractive as a desert when it is unadorned on a large plate and garnished with a few green vegetables like parsley, green peas, etc.

"Pique" is a stuffing or a dish which has been stuffed—usually with left-over chopped meat or vegetables.

A Turkish Variant
"Pique" or "Pique" is a Turkish variant of the charreux idea. It's a mixture of rice with chopped meat or vegetables, particularly tomatoes. "Ragout" is a stew of beef or other meat.

"Macaroni" is a mixture of chopped vegetables, either fresh cooked or left-over. It may be served hot with meat or cold on lettuce or salad.

"Patty" and "potted meat" are the small and large editions of the same thing. The patty is familiar enough—a flake, pastry-like crust which is filled with creamed meat, fish or vegetables, and one is served per person. The "potted meat" is the same idea on a larger scale—a large patty shell sufficient for several persons, and is cut up at table.

A Los Angeles inventor's windmill consists of six vertical paddles that revolve two thirds of the way around a circle, then "flinger" back with the wind to the pulling position.

MODERN FARMING IS BEING TAUGHT TURKS

Agricultural Missionary Working Among Farmers of Nation

By International News Service
ISTANBUL, March 7.—In a recent trip to Anatolia, Turkey from Constantinople, Harold T. Pense, agricultural missionary under the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, presented Turkish agriculturalists with a Holstein heifer and a blooded bull, gifts of eastern Holstein breeders.

One of the bull's ancestors sold for $25,000 and a cow in the same line for $25,000. Two cows in this same family each produced over 1,000 pounds of butter fat within a year.

The principal industry of Turkey being agriculture, Pense is attempting to create a scientific method of farming, especially in the interior of the country, where it is greatly needed. The Turkish government realizing the great need of modern methods has warmly welcomed agricultural missionaries of the board. Gradually the native farmers have ceased to shake their heads over the "strange Americans" and are watching him, fascinated and endeavoring to follow his example.

The raising of bees, another Turkish industry, is also being improved on by the missionary.

Use of the ancient plow, a crooked stick made to scratch the earth, long in practice by the majority of Turkish farmers, is now being out, and a plow called "Hindostani" a combination of the old and new is being successfully introduced. This combines the modern steel plow with the accustomed method of using oxen as a motive power.

Scientific knowledge and friendly instruction given in a sympathetic way is accomplishing much in the needs of the Turkish farmer, according to the board.

Pense is a University of California man and has been with the American board of commissioners for foreign missions since 1927.

COFFEE cranks are nice people WHO know good coffee

AND are not happy UNTIL they get it . . .

OLD RELIABLE COFFEE is chosen AND blended, and roasted

BY our own private coffee cranks (EXPERT coffee men) for just such people.

THEY have palates as sensitive AS barometers

TRAINED to record THE slightest deviation

FROM their idea OF good coffee.

NOT once—not twice—THREE times

THEY brew and test AND taste

REJECTING here ACCEPTING there

BEFORE they will award THE OLD RELIABLE label . . .

THAT'S why the crankiest COFFEE crank

Old Reliable
CUP-TESTED

DRINKING a cup OF OLD RELIABLE

MELTS in the sun OF his own approval

AS he sips and tastes AND enjoys Old Reliable Coffee

KIWANIANS HEAR TALK ON DAIRIES

W. A. Wentworth, of Columbus, Addresses Luncheon Club at Meeting

W. A. Wentworth, Columbus, Ohio, addressed the luncheon club at the meeting of the Marion Kiwanis Club yesterday afternoon at the Marion Club.

Mr. Wentworth, who is a well-known dairy expert, spoke on the importance of dairies in the production of food.

He pointed out that dairies are the source of many of the products we use every day, and that they are essential to our health and well-being.

Mr. Wentworth also spoke of the importance of proper dairy management and the need for clean and healthy dairies.

His talk was well received by the club members, and they all enjoyed the luncheon which was served after the meeting.

The next meeting of the Marion Kiwanis Club will be held on Friday afternoon at the Marion Club.

The club is a very active organization, and its members are always interested in the welfare of the community.

They are always ready to help in any way they can, and they are a great asset to the community.

The club is open to all who are interested in the welfare of the community, and they are always glad to have new members.

If you are interested in joining the club, please contact the club secretary for more information.

Book Reviews

Turning New Pages

WITH EDNA S. DUTTON

DOROTHY GRAHAM's novel, "Candles in the Sun," has been called by some reviewers, "satire in pastels." The author does her picture with a gentle hand and the satire is almost lost in the sympathetic treatment of the situations.

To young Jane Trent, fresh from the Middle West, Europe spelled romance, romance on a white chaperon with silver trappings. Gino Duomo came across her path in the material, not the sort from which romance is woven, but then, he has a title and Jane's mother has more far-reaching eyes than her daughter. And the lovely Gineola had thoughts for the marriage, for her beloved Gino needs the Trent wealth. She would permit him to marry Jane for had she not married the Marchese (dead) for reasons of state.

Gino had opinions of his own in regard to a girl who would marry with a man other than her fiance and Jane could not reconcile her code of morals

Broadway Proves

THEATRE tickets came as high for the Broadway premieres back in the '90s as they do today. In "Here's to Broadway" by Edward T. Perine, which Putnam's have recently published, the author points out that one Gino the better paid $225 for a seat at Jenny Lind's first Broadway appearance in 1850 and that the first morning two million American newspaper readers learned of Mr. Gino and his hat. His name was so well advertised by his investment in a theatre ticket, that a man out in Iowa who owned a hat with a Gino label offered it at auction a few days later and it was knocked down to a fellow townsman for $11. Gino's reputation lasted for years.

Holds To Publish

Lenten Reading

HENRY BOLT & CO., will publish early this month two books which should be of interest as Lenten reading. They are "Armor of Light" by Tracy D. Myatt and "The Book of Withered" by Frances Witherspoon. The latter is a collection of fiction and tells the story of a small group of Christians in hiding underground in a crypt just outside of Rome. They are anxiously waiting for news of the city where one of their number is being held for a murder he did not commit. To make the long night less terrible they tell stories. The latter book is a collection of sermons on a wide range of subjects all of them closely related to everyday experience.

Freeman's Book

Is Best Seller

ONE week after publication H. W. Freeman's "Down in the Valley" became a best seller on both sides of the Atlantic. The Baker & Taylor Co., report it first on their list for the week following publication and second in their monthly best, despite the fact that it was not published until Feb. 7. The book is now in its fourth large printing.

Western Tale

Has Romance

FREDDIE GRACIE, Peter Caltvert, the "Lightning Bug," those were some of the names by which the hero of W. B. Ferguson's adventure novel, "Lightning Bug," was known, feared and respected. He was not a bad man, but an unlucky stray, the child of a trading Southern girl and a wealthy end of New York of the Twisted Ring days. Brought up by Comanche foster-parents, he developed all of the cunning of Indians and their uncanny skill with knife and rifle; their love of the open and hatred of injustice. The story of his childhood among the Indians, of his wanderings with Comanche Moon, the foetal gambler; of his feats as a professional shot; of the hand he took against the corrupt political bosses of New York are but a flash in the pan compared to the romance he gained as a mid-nineteenth-century storekeeper in Saccharush of the late '70's. There is a love interest which makes the story all that can be asked in a real western yarn.

HEALTH TROUBLES

GONE, THANKS TO

FAMED KONJOLA

New Medicine Freed Cincinnati Lady of Stomach Trouble and Built Up Her Health

MRS. GEORGE SOINGEN

"I suffered from stomach trouble for more than two years," said Mrs. George Soingen, Jr., 235 Setchel avenue, Cincinnati. "Nearly everything I ate formed gas and bloated my stomach terribly. The pressure against my heart often made me dizzy and short of breath. My liver was sluggish and subjected me to bilious attacks and headaches. Constipation bothered me severely and forced me to use cathartics almost daily."

"That was my condition when I began to take Konjola. What a difference today! Food no longer ferments and causes gas, and the heart palpitation has gone. Bilious attacks, headaches and dizzy spells are a thing of the past. Constipation disappeared within a week after I began with this medicine. I have gained ten pounds in weight and am in better health than I have been in years."

Konjola is sold in Marion at Shoup & Sons drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—A1c

Newspaperman

Writes of Prisons

THE recent startling series of uprisings in state prisons gives a peculiar timeliness to the fictional narrative by Harry W. Tyler, a newspaperman who for years has been in close contact with hundreds of criminals. It is in no sense an attack on prison systems, but rather a straight-forward chronicle of the life led by crooks in "cell" and out of it, a human revelation of existence in the underworld, set down without flourish or a bid for sympathy.

The story is told by Harry Tyler, a young bank clerk of 20, opening as he begins his five-year sentence for embezzlement. It follows his daily life, describing hard labor on the rock pile; his association with various types of prisoners; his escape with three others; his recapture. His term, ended unable to find honest employment, he throws his lot with a gang whose specialty is bank robbery. He falls in love with the girl of the outfit and marries her. One more big haul, he now resolves, and the straight, safe path forever. The sequel is as ironical as any novel could hope for. It makes plain that the old adage, honesty is the best policy, is best after all, for of all his confederates in crime, none go scot-free while one is sent to the chair.

"The Man Called Eighty-Eight," Tyler's novel, number, is full of dramatic climaxes which are heightened by the simplicity of the author's method. The novel is published by Robert M. McBride & Co.

A report issued by the University of Chicago following a survey made of thousands of homes in that city shows that husbands, on the average, expend ten per cent. more than their wives the clothes, and the men patrons of beauty parlors far outnumber women patrons. To us men folk, the disturbing phase of this indictment for vanity is the down-in-our-heart feeling that it is a true one.

Of More Than Passing Interest.

Two proposed measures of more than passing interest received the approval of the lower house of congress this week. One was the bill of Willis C. Hawley, of Oregon, chairman of the ways and means committee, providing for a five-year extension of the time in which World War veterans, or their dependants may file application for adjusted compensation benefits, and the other was the joint measure of Senator Porter H. Dale, of Vermont, and Congressman Frederick R. Leitch, of New Jersey, under the provisions of which the retirement system for government employees, if the bill becomes a law, will be extended at an additional cost of something like $16,000,000 annually.

No matter what the feeling of any individual may be with regard to the plan of adjusted compensation, it must be conceded that, in the light of the fact that so many World War veterans have taken advantage of the benefits to be had under the law, it would hardly be fair at this time to close the door by which other World War veterans or their dependants, who for one reason or another have not made application, may enter into the enjoyment of similar benefits.

As for the extension of the government retirement system for the retirement of employees, much may be said. While government employees in the classified service enjoy many benefits which are not enjoyed by the great majority of employees not in the government service, such benefits as liberal vacations on pay, sick leaves, the permanency of their employment and all that, they are not well paid, as pay goes these days, and hence it is no more than simple justice that there should be governmental assistance in maintaining a system, to which the employees themselves are the chief contributors, looking to the financing of their days after their retirement from the service.

And there is more in the system, as we have intimated, than that. The continuity of service which results from the system is, in itself, worth to the government all that the government pays out in assistance in its maintenance.

The action of the house on the Dale-Leitch bill will be of interest to government employees in the classified service and the action on the Hawley bill, which carried by a vote of 235 to seventeen, will interest World War veterans and their dependants in case where application for adjusted compensation has not been made. And as the general public in one way or another will have to provide a part of the fund in one case and all of the fund in the other to meet the problems of the bills, we feel that there is no attention in holding that both should be more than passing interest to newspaper readers.

THE GRIND.

Diseases of Later Years.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Chronic diseases, particularly what we call the "degenerative" diseases, are becoming more and more prevalent. In spite of the fact that enormous sums are expended in medical and health services, in almost every community these ailments continue.

Persons of middle age and the aged are the ones who suffer from these diseases. Such persons are really paying the penalty of past neglect. Many more people reach middle age now than formerly. Instead of an average life span of forty years, as it used to be, we now have an average expectation of life of fifty-six years. The longer the life the more likely it is to acquire some such ailment. It is natural, therefore, that we have more of the degenerative diseases in our day because they are characteristic of the latter half of life.

The most common of these chronic diseases are heart and circulatory troubles, cancer, rheumatism or arthritis, Bright's disease and practically everything resulting from brain hemorrhage. This is a very general grouping, but it covers what I have in mind.

There are, of course, numerous contributing factors in this increase of the average life span. This is an age of medical progress and much splendid public health work. It is a time of advanced thinking and of greater knowledge of health promotion through publicity of all kinds.

People are living longer lives. They contribute more largely to the welfare of society. Society as a whole is far better off than it was fifty years ago, in spite of the growth in degenerative diseases. There has been a wonderful advance in overcoming the infectious diseases which tend to cut life short before middle age. Methods of instruction in the home and in the schools are already at work in the young. Such health-teaching is of the greatest importance.

In many, and probably most, of our public and private schools, early instruction in good health habits is the rule. Every child in North America should have health education in earliest life. The practice of habits of health should begin in the kindergarten years. Home and school should take part in giving vital health knowledge to every child.

Every community should have adequate medical and health services in order to meet this increased demand. Hundreds of patients there are who, if helped in time, can be restored to normal health and their place in society.

Every person should have a physical examination by the family doctor at least once a year. To "put in the hat" and say one of these degenerative diseases, before it gets into an advanced chronic stage, means one more person saved from endless suffering. He is given years of active work in life. If you do not feel up to the mark, if life seems dull and uninteresting, and everything an effort, you had better see your doctor.

Editorial Opinion.

A NEW QUEST OF ATLANTIS.

For many, many centuries the word "Atlantis" has been a legend. The story of a great island or continent somewhere west of the Pillars of Hercules, inhabited by a highly-civilized people, with a degree of culture and a system of government far superior to any people known to history, a land which had somehow vanished from the face of the earth, was told to Solon, according to Plato, by Egyptian priests. How long it had been current before this has been left to conjecture.

Was it an invention of Plato's, a philosophical romance on the order of Mercutio's Utopia, or was it a genuine legend with a historical basis? The question has been argued pro and con ever since Plato's time. It had a peculiar fascination for the modern speculation. Lord Bacon made it the basis of an imaginary commonwealth. It has been the theme of countless poems and romances. Always the possibility that it was founded upon truth has strongly appealed to the minds of men, and even in the present age there are many who cherish the hope that the story may yet be verified.

Apparently, Charles G. Dawes is one of these. For it has just come to light that he believes, or suspects, that the key to the mystery of the lost Atlantis may be found in the sculptured records of the Mayan cities of Central America, whose present civilization may have been the source of the legend, or whose people may have two descendants of the Atlanteans. At any rate, it is said that he has employed Professor Charles Upson Clark, of Yale University, to burrow into the vast accumulation of manuscripts in the library of the Vatican in search for documents of the Mexican conquest period throwing light upon the Mayan records and perhaps enabling scientists to decipher the hieroglyphs.

Professor Clark, we are told, is already at work in the Vatican library. Something in the nature of the Rosetta stone is an object of hope. It seems highly improbable that such a key to the Mayan hieroglyphs may be unearthed, and yet who knows? If there are any writings of that time bearing upon the mystery there is no place where they are so likely to be found. Mr. Dawes, obviously believes, if the report be true, the large chance of such a discovery is worth the effort.

There is probably more in this undertaking, however, than a new search for Atlantis. That may be the romantic incentive, but any documents that will reveal even a little new knowledge of the Mayan people, their history and their civilization, would be worth the effort and would add a new honor to Mr. Dawes' varied accumulation of distinctions. And, of course, if a key to the Mayan hieroglyphs may be unearthed, it would be of incalculable value to American archaeology.

There is nothing in this field of scientific research more interesting than the question of the origin of that remarkable civilization, and its relation to the civilizations of Asia and Africa, particularly of Egypt. These wonderful ruins are attracting more and more attention as they become increasingly accessible, and the desire for a solution of the mystery they embody is accordingly strengthened. Whether Atlantis ever existed or not, there is a world of romance in Mr. Dawes' latest endeavor, and we wish him the best of luck.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE STAGE CLEANS HOUSE.
There is some justice in the complaint of a spokesman for the American theater that the people who last year were protesting loudly against the prevalence of objectionable plays are strangely quiet this season, when there has been a marked improvement in the type of drama offered. But the silence of those who demand decency in the theater is not due to loss of interest. There are probably two good reasons for it. One is that when the situation is as it ought to be, it is felt that there is no need to talk about it. The other is that, even if favorable comment is made, it is likely to receive less publicity, and therefore attract less notice, than a protest.

Nevertheless, the theatrical man's point is well taken. A better class of plays is being presented this season, and it is right that attention should be called to the fact. A glance at some of the recent offerings will show that there is no lack of entertainment of artistic value, with a minimum of objectionable features. Among others, for instance, there are "Berkley Square," "Bird in Hand," "Bitter Sweet," "Broken Dishes," "It Never Rains," "Mourning's End," "June Moon," "Mickey," "Michael and Mary," "Ripples," "The Criminal Code," "The First Mrs. Fraser," "The New Moon" and the revised operetta of Victor Herbert, "The Sign of the Cross." In addition, the Stratford players from England and the Chicago Civic Repertory company are offering Shakespeare to American audiences.

This improvement in plays is significant of American public taste in the theater. The people as a whole do not want undecency on the stage, and in the long run will not tolerate it. As the theatrical representative already referred to puts it: "The people have put the censor out of a job. If all the members will recognize the value of the people in this respect, the censor will be the first to be hanged."—Cleveland Science Monitor.

Greek Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.
To ancient Greece, the few scientific facts that we know of, and little more than the treasures of a few ancient minds to draw upon, lived many of our scientists. Among these was Anaxagoras, who came at the beginning of the Age of Pericles. Upon his scientific knowledge was based the philosophy of the time.

"The famous old Greek Anaxagoras confessed, whose mind explored the heavenly paths of truth."

Anaxagoras was born at Clazomenae, near Smyrna, about the year 500 B. C. So different was he to worldly fortune that he let his wealth slip away from him in his absorption in studying universal problems. Anaxagoras devoted his attention to a study of the material universe and of the essential structure of his existence. The view that the physical world was formed through the combination and interaction of elementary and fundamental units in a certain sense he dealt with what we now term atoms. Back of the universe, in his view, presided some universal mind or intelligence, the prime mover of the universe. According to him, this universal mind "moves and arranges all things that exist so far as that were, that are, and that will be."

According to Plato, Anaxagoras devoted himself to science, for the purpose of studying the sun, the moon, and the heavens. One of his remarkable discoveries was that the moon does not shine of its own light. In his own words, "He first places the brightness of the moon in a light, and then he states that 'the moon is a light, and the light is the moon.' His view regarding the Milky Way was ingenious, but unproved. It is interesting to recall that no view was refuted by Aristotle who pointed out, with essential correctness, that the shadow cast by the earth in a cone, the apex of which does not reach the stars, since the sun is larger than the earth and is very distant, and his stars are still more distant."

It took courage, in that day, to advance views which ran counter to current opinion and superstition. Anaxagoras has been called one of the first martyrs to science. He was banished from Athens for entertaining the heretical views that the sun was simply earth, and that the stars were a red hot stone. A contemporary of Anaxagoras, who was a profound student of natural phenomena, has left important records of his thinking. This was Empedocles, who has been the subject of poems by George Meredith and Matthew Arnold. With scientific insight, he divined that combinations of atoms which were suited to their ends continued to maintain themselves, while unfit combinations, lacking a proper balance, must rapidly disappear.

As the English scientist, T. D. Lee, expressly puts it, in speaking of Empedocles: "Thus more than 2,000 years ago the doctrine of the survival of the fittest, which in our day, not on the basis of vague conjecture, but on positive knowledge, has been raised to such extraordinary significance, had received at all events partial confirmation."—Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, March 7.—Thoughts of a strolling wonder where John D. Sr. is, his car? Lillian D. Wald, the "Lady in White" of Henry Street. The blind beggar, doddler and the covered dog, Margalo and more. Nothing stirring in New York's wild animal penitentiary. Michael Strange, Bar, more's at.

Howard Brubaker, who makes a living writing pithy paragraphs. The Broadway gambler who wears a square-crowned Stetson and resembles a character out of an Owen Winter book. Who do wire-haired fox terriers jump all over you. Sneeze, an ace-of-spades cabaret singer.

A café named for La Fitte, the pirate. What trust not appropriately. A sale of slung caps. And but you can not protect "skinning." A jewelry store with a special smoking salon for women. A new camera with a delay shutter so you can zip the button and get into the picture.

Theodore Dreiser, a Terre Haute, Indiana, boy, who made good in the city. Several earnest, mental signs. "Class Opportunity." What became of watch repair factories? Way do pedestrians always slip at the curb and look back after a quick glance across the street? Mafry Paul, bouillabaisse.

A slightly-reverent gentleman in an opera hat at 19 a. m.—the dirty stay-out. Those languid boys the tap-dancers ends on their wings. And are actually known as models as Gerald George Smith out shopping at John Murray Anderson's grown plump. Haywood Brown in a freshly-pressed suit.

Scop boasts: "Whatever your hobby, we can outfit you." Astray of Lullaby glass. $60. And a fold up house for $100. Courtney Hays Cooper's cowboy hat for $100. Marble-fronted cheese store. Reputed owned by a millionaire who could not find cheese to suit him.

The nearest theater continues to park them in. And the Criterion continues to have the most elaborate movie signs in town. Steve Tilton and his wife. Carson's new cafe—a rendezvous for the theatrical crowd. And the tip talkers in front of the Palace.

A style expert says there are only ten in a New York who know how to wear coats as at a proper angle. He points as the example par excellence—Ralph Barton.

And how so far as I have noticed can I an evening like Michael Arden, who can like George M. Cohan, wear a muffler like John Barrymore, display a pocket handkerchief like Andy Knickerbocker or wear a lapel like a like Jack Buchanan.

Now that the ancient Knickerbocker theater is coming down, the Empire stands in a lonely sentinel on Broadway below Forty-Seventh. It was one of the most comfortable and roomiest in its hey-day and was to the musical show stage what the New Amsterdam is today. In the past few years it has been used chiefly for revivals of old favorites.

Like its neighbor, the Empire, the Knickerbocker had a touch of ancient bravado. It suggested—forgive an aged eccentric his memories—bedlamites with tormented and courtiers in cap coats. The lobby had painted paintings, soft settees and ponderous chandeliers in contrast to the fairly roomy, though booped-down of the modern theater, which seems to spring up over night.

The fate of the Empire has not been revealed although there are whispers the wreckers are to demolish it soon. It was the home of all Charles Frohman successes and it housed C. F.'s executive offices. He used to have entrance in contrast to the fairly roomy, though booped-down of the modern theater, which seems to spring up over night.

A speaky proprietor sends an invitation by hand: "Drop in and try my newest cocktail. Patented, no end. And called 'The Canary.'"

I know. One and you start to twitter. Two and you hop up on a window sill and begin to beat yourself against the panes—Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

The news tells us that a western oil field worker lived on $1.35 a month for years. On a small wage he saved $20,000 in ten years. He had no home, no good food, cut his own hair, did his own washing. He had no books, papers, magazines. He lived a life of wretchedness—for the sake of saving money. It makes no difference whether it is the farmer who is miserly in contrast to the factory man who starves himself to lay up money—it is all poverty of the worst sort. Money is not worth so much. Life is full of sacrifices which are not worth making. There is no virtue in poverty when common sense is not there. A life made empty by a distorted sense of thrift is not worth living.

Credit bureau managers are told that the great American "character" is "keeping up with the Jones." Pride is a wholesome quality. Too much pride is an affliction. Pride without judgment is a source of misery. Pride which drives us to spend as much for "show" as our neighbors do sends us along the road to wretchedness. Thousands of Americans go into bankruptcy because of this race to keep up a show. After all, what is the value of impressing somebody else if you are miserable inside while you are doing it? What is this glittering impression worth? Measure it at its true value if you can. Decide whether you want it.

Let the cost of living be what it may and let the stock market make us sad, there is one sign of the times to give us comfort and joy. The book business is in process of being revolutionized. The dollar book may not yet be the most powerful force in popular education in America today. Not long ago whenever two book-lovers gathered together the talk was about the high price of books. Some publisher started something. Others got into line. Today hundreds of books worth reading can be bought for a dollar. The dollar book is the outstanding development in the modern publishing business. Cities are setting dollar bookstores.

Perhaps it is the boy and perhaps it is the school. Perhaps it goes back to his parents. Most things are finally blamed on parents. But for some reason or other the average young fellow these days thinks an ordinary job at reasonably good pay is not good enough for him. He feels an apprenticeship is a hopeless waste of time. If he is given a small salary he is sure he is sadly underpaid. In fact, some of the young men recently out of school feel they would rather keep their feet under the family table and do nothing than take a small job with beginner's pay.

Just where does today's young man get the idea that he is to start at the top and get top pay? Who tells him that? Things just aren't that way in life and it is time some body told the boy the truth.

THOMPSON DELAYS ANNOUNCING PLANS

Makes No Entry into Senate Race as Ohio C. O. P. Holds Rally

COLUMBUS, March 2—With a word of praise for the Republican party from Senator Guy D. Goff of West Virginia, and a review of the state administration by Governor Myers T. Cooper, some 1,000 party men last night celebrated the first day of the Ohio League of Republican Clubs.

While there was considerable speculation as to the purpose of the meeting, the program, confined solely to eulogies, threw no light upon it. Even though all factions of the party were present, the gathering was regarded by some as a gesture to Colonel Carl A. Thompson, of Cleveland, to enter the race for the senatorial nomination against Senator Roscoe C. McCullough, of Canton.

Colonel Thompson was present as head of a large delegation from Cleveland. After the meeting he issued a statement saying that he would not make known his future political plans until his return from a business trip to England.

"I am here to participate in a Republican reunion and get acquainted with the party," he said. "I would not take advantage of such an occasion to discuss my personal ambitions or political intentions."

Senator Goff was the principal dinner speaker. Most of his address was devoted to praise of the party but he interjected a statement, commending himself and Republicanism as well to the belief that the eighth amendment must remain in the constitution. He also lauded the protective tariff, and denounced the equalization fee in the McNary-Haugen bill, which he said would have put the government in business.

WORLD'S LARGEST BRIDGE

If the strands of wire used in weaving the four cables of the new Hudson bridge, connecting the states of New York and New Jersey, were stretched in a single strand, that strand would be long enough to circle the earth four times at the equator. Above is pictured John S. Berger, Jr., engineer, perched on the catwalk, as he examines some of the completed strands at the New York tower.

MARRIED 50 YEARS

MR. AND MRS. W. M. HICKOK

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hickok To Observe Golden Wedding at Home South of Richwood; Reception Monday Afternoon
and Night. Dinner Features of Celebration

BEFORE the days of the improved road and the gasoline carriage there was an unusually happy scene taking place in a quiet little country home.
Silence of the parents and other visitors only served to amplify
the voice of a Marysville justice of the peace as he pronounced a smiling young couple man and wife. That was 50 years ago.

Monday at their home one mile south of Richwood, Mr. and Mrs.
W. M. Hickok will observe their golden wedding anniversary.
Fifty years have wrought many changes. Their lives have been filled with sorrow and happiness.

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW GRADE SCHOOL

Start Excavation for Grade Building at Indiana and Pennsylvania Aves.

Ground has been broken for the new elementary school at Indiana and Pennsylvania ave. to be completed by the opening of school in September.

Work will go forward as the spring weather permits. The lot is being laid out to locate the new building, which will cost about $25,000, including the school furnishings and equipment and other fees that will enter into the construction of the building.

The new building will relieve congestion at Vernon Heights and Forest Lawn schools. When completed, it will seat a maximum of 400 pupils.
Plans call for 10 class rooms, a small assembly room, a school office and rest room for the teachers.

The erection of this building will leave the construction of the new junior high school in Oakland Heights to complete the present school building program which is being carried out as rapidly as possible.

SHIPS MAKE DARING MID-OCEAN TRANSFER

Engineer of S. S. Cranford
Taken Aboard American-
Bound Boat

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 7.—After a daring transfer in mid-ocean during a bitter wind and a heavy sea, Chief Engineer Batten of the Steamship Cranford was enroute to New York aboard the United States liner America today to rejoin his family in New Orleans where they were awaiting him in a ship fire.

The transfer was effected by Chief Officer Harry Manning of the America, who commanded the lifeboat in mid-ocean and who was on his way to New Orleans when he rescued the crew of the disabled Italian freighter Florida during a gale off the Virginia Capes.

The story of the transfer was told by Captain George S. Ford, in radio messages, as follows:

"5 p. m., 300 miles south of Cape
Race, all in readiness for transfer of Chief Engineer Batten of S. S.
Cranford, bound Havana and Ancon,
whose wife probably fatally burned,
son unaccounted for and daughter slightly injured in S. S. Scuterie fire, New Orleans. Expect to sight Cranford any moment. Chief Officer Harry Manning and crew of 11 will man life boat number one when ship brought into position for transfer.
America in maneuver to windward to protect lifeboat. Weather cold, good visibility, heavy swell."

"5:15 p. m.—Cranford sighted 3:37.
Crew donned life preservers. Boat swung out from island dock starboard.
Temperature 72, bitter wind."

"5:20 p. m.—Ships 500 yards apart,
at standstill. Boat lowered. Hatch starts."

The concluding message read:
"Alongside S. S. Cranford. Lowered number one boat. Chief Officer Manning in charge with 11 men. Went aboard and took of Chief Engineer Batten about 6 p. m. Hoisted boat and proceeded. Weather clear, heavy swell."

SOCIETY SEWS

Wesley M. E. Missionary Group
Holds All-Day Meeting

The Women's Home Missionary society of Wesley M. E. church will meet March 12 at the church for an all-day sewing meeting to benefit the Ethel Harpist Home at Oakhurst, Ga., according to plans made at a meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. James Barker, 311 Uncommon ave. The women of the society will make dresses for the little girls.

Mrs. Fred Upton, vice president of the society, was in charge of the meeting yesterday. Devotional were conducted by Mrs. Pearl McGarry.

A program opened with a vocal solo by Mrs. Charles Clark accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Russell Wilhelm. A review of the chapter in the study book, "Personalizing
the City," was given by Mrs. J. C.
Cheney. A paper on "Conference
City Work," was given by Miss Minnie Hoover. "Home Missionary
Training" was conducted by Mrs. W.
H. Layman.

A social hour and refreshments was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by a committee including Mrs.
Barker, Mrs. J. A. Tingle, Mrs. G. F.
Thomas and Mrs. Jennie Eaton.

Car of Mt. Gilead Man
Is Burned in Blaze

MT. GILEAD, March 7.—A Dodge sedan, the property of George Fiszel, was burned Thursday night about 7:30 o'clock near the home of Clare Noe, north of Mt. Gilead.
Fiszel, with John Harlow and W. C.
Brown, were enroute to Marion to a lodge meeting. The car was burnt in a blaze. The origin of the fire is not known, but it started in the engine. No one was injured.

NAVAL CONFERENCE AGAIN IN PROGRESS

Confidence That Treaty Will Be Produced Expressed
by MacDonald

By the Associated Press
LONDON, March 7.—The naval conference got back into full swing today with a conference of the chief delegates at St. James' palace,
France being represented by Aristide Briand, foreign minister in the Franco cabinet and a member of the original French delegation.

Today's meeting was held amid an atmosphere of confidence among at least some of the leading delegates that tangible results would be achieved within a measurable time.

This feeling was especially voiced by Prime Minister MacDonald, who declared emphatically that the conference was now going to produce a treaty
at a not very distant date.

The prime minister's optimistic prediction was made at the close of a meeting of the principal delegates of all five powers at St. James' palace made possible by the return of the French with their delegation in full working order. Premier Tardieu himself was not present, but was absent in the south of France where disastrous floods have been in progress.

Prime Minister MacDonald was one of the most active diners at today's meeting, planning for a faster tramp in the pace of the conference.
In urging a speeding up of negotiations, he asked the delegations to submit their best proposals in full immediately so that the category tables can be filled out.
